

Select Workshops & Demonstrations

Insect Roles in Our Environment Workshop - Prof. Stephanie Gorski

Entomologist Stephanie Gorski presents an exciting discussion about the importance of the insects around us - even the ones we wish would stay away. She will be accompanied by several of her insect friends for an up close and personal look.

Hill Country Medicinal Plants Workshop - Master Naturalist Daneshu Clarke

Learn about the many Hill Country plants that have been used in medicinal preparations, and how these have been made.

Horses 101: So You Think You Want To Own A Horse - Angel Vargas

Have you ever wondered what it takes to work with and care for a horse? What gear you'll need and how to feed? Find out in a lively discussion including opportunity for lots of questions and answers.

Working Horses & Spanish Mustangs - Angel Vargas & Tomlyn Gray

Working horses and mules have been a part of this country's heritage for hundreds of years. Learn about how equines still work in a variety of roles. Colonial Spanish Horses were one such working breed, and are endangered today. Tomlyn Gray, a conservator of the breed, explains their history and the importance of their preservation.

Vendors

Alex's Tacos - Alex serves up delicious tamales, street tacos, burgers, and hot dogs.

Sister Grub - Fantastic brisket dishes including potatoes and nachos, as well as Crawfish Etouffe and wings.

Dancing Crepes - Sweet or savory crepes - take your pick, you can't go wrong. Also a full coffee bar that can't be beat.

Ann Walton - Upcycled trinket boxes, original jewelry with nature themes, and artwork.

DragonMusings Art - Home to dragons and other flights of fancy, from original paintings to sculpture to jewelry.

EarthTribe Goods - Amazing handmade brooms, flutes, incense, and even henna art.

Jeweled Fossils - One of a kind jewelry made from stones and fossils found around the world.

OakBend Family - Original woodworking including highly imaginative lighting.